Working in Ramadan
The month of Ramadan comes with its spirituality that distinguishes it from other months, carrying a great treasure of good deeds for Muslims and especially those working with sincerity and devotion.

Ramadan provides employees with a positive atmosphere guaranteeing the opportunity to play their roles at their workplaces in a faithful and patient spirit to attain a total discipline in performance and work; and to improve the quality of relations between staff, which helps raise the level of work quality.

Fasting during working is beneficial for the employees as to have the intention of good faith and absolute faith which contribute in creating, leaving positive and satisfactory impact on services provided to the employer and those benefiting therefrom.
